(For the Pacific Com'l Advertiser.) In Memory of Abraham Lincoln.

BY GRAVITY JOY Toll the ponderous, deep-toned Bo

With cadent pauses grand ! Roll the solemn, echoing Knell From Mountain-top to Strang Let the heavy, pendant hammer Wake a mournful, brazen clamor-Spread a meianchely glamour O'er the Land !

Hear and for, let Patriots all. Weep o'er the Stricken Just liter and funeral plume and pali Give to his Hoty Dust Let the Wall our deep grief orges Swell to mighty, vocal Surges, Autheming a Nation's Dirges O'er it's Trust !

Borne safely through the Battle-Wrath By God's abundant Power form from his Heaven Appointed Path In his High Zenith-Hour ! hat Forevermore, the Story How the Wrongs of Ages Hoary He subdeed, shall be his Glory-Stand his Tower !

Crushed he the Monster, Slavery, For Darkness gave he Light ; Hashed be Rebellious Knavery. Restored his Country's Right " Malice to None : but Charity To All," without disparity-Shows this such Christian Rarlty In him Bright !

Oh, his Sweet Heroism shall nerve To braver deeds the Brave ! No More shall Freedom's Progress swerve, No More shall toll the Slave ! He shall Live in Hist'ry's pages As Earth's Purest, Best of Sages ; Truth shall Radiate through Ages From his Grave!

VARIETY.

Those who aim at Heaven should take aim kneel-The ashes of a cigar are little thought of-those of a man scarcely more. THE ALPHABET OF TREASON .- A. B. C. D.: Arpold, Burr, Calhoun, Davis.

Women can keep a secret, but it generally takes a good many of them to do it. Those who live to benefit others are the happiest of Men are born with two eyes, but with one tongue, in order that they may see twice as much as they say. Happiness abounds among the lowly; there are more blossoms in the valley than on the hills.

"Why don't you ask your sweetheart to marry you?" "I have asked her." "What did she say?" "Oh, I've the refusal of her."

Lay it down as a rule never to smile, nor in any way show approval or merriment at any trait in a child which you should not wish to grow with his growth and strengthen with his strength.

March at the head of the ideas of your age and they will follow and support you. If you march behind them they will drag you on. And if you march against them, they will certainly prove your downfall .- Louis Napoleon.

There is a peculiarly fercible kind of whiskey lately come in vogue in London, branded L. L., and when a cockney says, "come and 'ave a dram of double hell," he undoubtedly gives the right title

Well, Bridget, if I engage you, I shall want you to stay at home whenever I shall wish to go out. Well, ma'm, I shall have no objections, providing you do the same when I wish to go out. A loving spirit, in order to feel a joy himself, readily discerns the little joys of the poor; a malignant heart spies out their miseries, not to lessen their amount, but that he may grumble at the rich.

Your Own Business .- How annoying to an industrious man to have "office loafers" "banging around," not only killing their own time but yours also. Such persons usually complain of "hard times," "poor pay," "bad government," and go about in a "slip shod" way, grumbling, grunting, or oursing, complaining of others and excusing themselves. They find fault, quarrel with women and children, but fail to hit those most to blame-themselves. Loafers generally smoke, chew, or drink; and are always ready to take a hand at any game where the chances may result in a gratuitous " treat" by a junior loafer, whose " means" are not yet exhausted. Oh, could these persons but see where this sert of life most surely leads to, would they, could they continue on? Idleness, dissipation, and disease lead to death of body and soul. Reader, admonish the loafer; set him to work; induce him to read, think, and pray to be delivered from the temptations which lead straight to perdition. Do not permit "losfers" to live in your presence. Set them to work, and teach them business, and induce them to CHILD TRAINING .- They were as pretty little children once as you could wish to see, and might have heen so still if they had been left to grow up like human beings; but their foolish fathers and mothers, instead of letting them pick flowers, make dirt pies, and get birds' nests, and dance round the gooseberry bush, as little children should, kept them always at lessons, working, working, learning week day lessons all week-days, and Sunday lessons all Sundays, and weekly examinations every Saturday and monthly examinations every month, and yearly examinations every year, everything seven times over, as if once was not enough, and enough as good as a feast-till their brains grew big and their bodies grew small, and they were all changed into turnips, with but litthe water inside; and still their foolish parents actually picked the leaves off them as fast as they grew, lest they should have anything green about them .-Charles Kingsley.

Poor Living -A good Methodist minister at the West who lived on a very small salary, was greatly troubled to get his quarterly instalment. He called on his steward a number of times, but had each time been put off with some excuse. His wants at length becoming argent, he went to his steward and told him that he must have his money, as his family were suffering for the necessaries of life.

" Money !" replied the steward. "You preach for money! I thought you preached for the good of souls !"

"Souls !" replied the minister. "I can't eat souls; and if I could, it would take a thousand such as yours to make a decent meal."

SELF-REGULATING! LOOK AT THIS:

THE SUBSCRIBER WOULD RESPECTfully give notice, that he has commenced the manufacture of a Self-Regulating Wind Mill, in Honotulu, corner of Force same, one of which may now be seen in successful operation at the residence of Mr. C. E. Williams, King St. Having had ex-perience in making and putting up wind-mills in California, where they have taken the first premium at all the State Fairs at which they have been exhibited, he is confident that they have no superior, not even an equal. They will run with less noise, less wind, less repair, and do more work than any mill in use. The mill can be used for almost any use requiring mschinery, and with great power, such as pumping, sawing, turn-ing, grinding grain, such as corn, wheat, baricy and coffee, and they can no doubt be made useful in the grinding of sugar cane with good success, but more especially for the raising of water, for which they were intended. Being self-regulating, they do not injere machinery by too great speed. Persons wishing one of these mills, will please leave their orders, which will be attended to with dispatch. L.
